JA HENRY

MEET STEVEN BRICE, THE NOBODY THAT NONE OF US WOULD SHARE EVEN A SECOND GLANCE WITH...

Steven had finally overcome his violent childhood and was happily married, until the day an infidelity of his wife was discovered and he became a man seeking retribution.

Determined to rid the world of those who pose a threat to him, Steven spends his nights working as a cleaner of the streets, in more ways than one!

But when Steven gets called as a witness to his own crime, he must truly become the nobody that no-one would ever give a second glance towards.

Cursed by the lies, corruption and crime about him, what will happen when everything begins to unravel?

A CONVERSATION WITH THE AUTHOR

WHAT DREW YOU TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF 'JUST A NOBODY' AND TO THE CHARACTERS WITHIN?

I got a lot of the information for 'Just a Nobody' from my experiences in life, even just through watching the news or crime stories, or browsing the internet.

I took a lot of inspiration for the characters from my work life and the people I have met and interacted with.

WHAT IS THE MOST DIFFICULT PART OF THE ARTISTIC PROCESS?

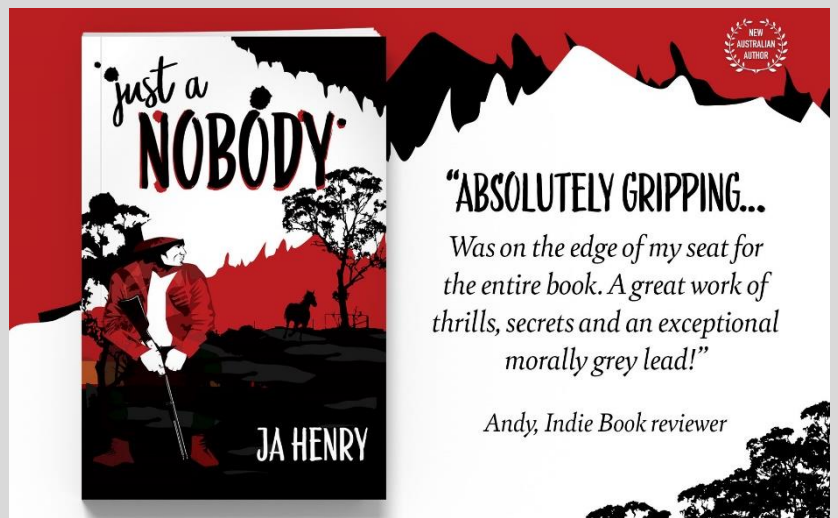

I think firstly just realising that I want to write and so I should just give it a go. Everyone has a story to tell, I needed to write mine! Past that, I think accepting that the story was okay was quite difficult. It surprised me when people I am close with read and enjoyed my story.

HOW DO YOU OVERCOME WRITER'S BLOCK?

I go and see my pets mostly. Otherwise I'll take a walk through the paddock, go for a drive and listen to music. You just have to take some time to clear your head.
